

Translation and Interpreting Seminar Series

spring 2015

Monday @7pm

6 University Square, G05

2 February	Mary Phelan (Dublin City University)	Historical Research on Court Interpreting
9 February	Maureen Freely (University of Warwick; translator of Orhan Pamuk)	Translation as Cosmopolitan Practice?
16 February	John Bosco Conama (Trinity College Dublin)	Recognising Irish Sign Language: Policies, Attitudes and Campaigns in the Republic of Ireland
23 February	Sarah Maitland (University of Hull)	Saving Us from Ourselves? Translation, Hermeneutics and the Ethics of Multiculturalism
2 March	Laurence Boswell (Royal Shakespeare Company, Stratford)	Translation for Performance
9 March	Daniel Newman (Durham University)	Arabic Bible Translation
23 March	John Kearns (Irish Translators' and Interpreters' Association)	Translation and Authorship Revisited
20 April	Karen Bennett (Universidade Nova de Lisboa)	Resisting Epistemicide in Academic Translation
27 April	Tim Eardley (University of Sheffield)	Translation and Other Transformations
11 May	End-of-year reception
4-5 June	Second International Postgraduate Conference in Translation and Interpreting: Territories of Understanding: Conflict and Encounter

Everyone is welcome!